No data deriving from the web service is to be communicated or spread. The personal data communicated by the users who forward a contact request or ask for informative material to sent out, is to be used solely for the actions or services requested by the users.

Type of data treated

Browsing data : Informatics systems and software procedures responsible for the functioning of this web site acquire, in the course of their normal exercise , various important personal data of which its transmission is implicit for the use of internet communication protocols.

This deals with information which is not collected in order to be associated with identified subjects. In this category of data, included are the IP addresses or the domain names of the computers belonging to the users who log onto the website , the addresses noted as URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) of the resources requested , the time of the request, the method used to submit the request to the server, the size of the file obtained in reply to the request, the numerical code indicating the status of the reply given by the server (positive or negative outcome, error, etc etc.) and any other parameters relating to the operative system and to the computing environment of the user. The data could be used to determine the responsibility, in the case of a hypothetical informatics crime, such as any eventual damage to the site, upon request of the competent authorities.

Data provided voluntarily by the User

The option of sending out electronic post, explicit and voluntary, to the addresses indicated within this web site, can lead to the subsequent acquisition of the senders address, need in order to reply to the request, together with any other eventual personal data contained within the sent message.

Cookies

No personal data relating to the user is deliberately acquired by the web site. Cookies are not used for the transmission of personal information, nor used are any persistent cookies of any other nature, or are any systems applied to track down users. The use of session cookies (that are not memorized persistently and disappear after the browser is closed), is strictly limited to the session transmission identification (made up of casual numbers generated by the server), necessary to allow for the safe and efficient exploration of the site. I c.d.

Optional nature of data submission

Besides that specified for data browsing, the user is free to supply its own personal data. Failure to provide so can lead to the impossibility to attain that requested.

Mode of treatment

Personal data is treated with automated tools, strictly for the time needed to carry out the reason for why they have been acquired. Specific safety measures are observed to prevent the loss of such data, illicit or non correct use, and for non authorized access.

Subjects rights

The subjects associated with the personal data, at any point in time, have the right to obtain the confirmation of the existence of such data, know its content and origin, verify its accuracy, or ask for its integration or update, and/ or correction (art 7 of law D.lgs n.196/2003). Under the same article, the user has the right to ask for its cancellation, or transformation into anonymous data, or the immediate 'block' of all the information processed in violation of the law, as well as oppose to its treatment for legitimate reasons. For all these reasons you can contact us via email at nicospa@nicospa.it
